chakra

Chakras are seven energy centres in our body and the second chakra is Svadhishthana Chakra.

"Svashidthana" meaning one's own abode and is associated with the unconscious and with emotion. Svadhisthana is associated with the element of water, the sense of taste and the act of procreation. The second chakra is located at the lower belly and inner pelvis.

Additionally the interior design encompasses the term 'Navaratna'. Each stone in the collection has a particular planet in its alignment, and corresponds to a particular Chakra. The healing properties of this collection of gems are unique.

Navaratna is a Sanskrit compound word meaning "nine gems".
